

Privacy Policy

Last Updated and Effective Date –August 15, 2018

This Privacy Policy describes the manner in which Hosspports Inc. (collectively, “Hosspports”, “we,” “our,” “us”) use information in operating our business of providing goalie rental services to hockey teams who are in need of a goalie for a game/event, our related websites (including www.hockeyrentagoalie.com) and mobile software applications (the “App”) (collectively, our “Services”).

By using our Services, you consent to the collection, use and disclosure of your personal information as described in this Privacy Policy.

Please note that we may update this Privacy Policy from time to time to reflect changes in our privacy practices. We may do this without prior notice to you. The revised version will be effective as of the published effective date, and will be posted at www.hockeyrentagoalie.com and published on the App. By your continued use of our Services, you acknowledge that any revised Privacy Policy will supersede any prior privacy policies to which you and your information may have been subject. As such, we encourage you to review this Privacy Policy periodically. If we make what we regard to be significant changes to this Privacy Policy, we will provide appropriate notice to you.

IF YOU DO NOT AGREE WITH THIS PRIVACY POLICY, PLEASE DO NOT USE OUR SERVICES.

1. Information We Collect and Receive.

We collect and receive the following types of information:

- Information You Provide Directly. We receive the information you choose to provide when using our Services.
 - For example, when you register for our Services as either a Goalie or a Renter, you will be required to create an account and provide some of the following information about yourself: first and last name, phone number, age, email address, gender, mobile phone number, postal code, playing caliber and distance willing to travel.
- Automatically Collected Information. We also may collect or receive information when you use our Services. We collect some of this information using cookies, beacons, and other technologies (see the end of this Privacy Policy for more information about what these are and how they work). This information that we collect automatically may be combined with information that you provide us directly in order to personalize content for you. Depending on how you access and use our Services, we may receive:
 - Log information. This is information we automatically collect and store when you use our Services. It may include, for example:
 - Information about your interactions with our Services, including the amount of time spent on our Services, the date and time at which you accessed our Services, and information in cookies and similar technologies.
 - Information about how you access our Services, including your browser or operating system, your Internet Protocol (“IP”) address, and the websites you visit before and after visiting our Services.

- Device information. This is information we collect and store concerning the device you use when you access our Services. (Note that by “device,” we mean anything you use to access our Services). Device information may include, for example:
 - The type of device you are using (e.g. your particular brand of phone or tablet);
 - Certain device identifiers which may be unique to your device;
 - Your Internet service provider; and
 - Content you have stored on your device, if you have granted us permission to do so in the “Permissions” or “Privacy” setting of your device.
- Location information. This information includes specific location information drawn from your device’s GPS, Bluetooth, or WiFi signals, including information about nearby WiFi networks, location beacons and cell towers. Your location is required to use the Services. It enables us to help match our goalies with goalie renters.

2. How We Use the Information We Collect or Receive.

We use the information we collect and receive for the following purposes:

- To provide our Services. We use the information we collect or receive to provide you with the Services. For example, we use this information to:
 - Create and administer user accounts;
 - Process rental transactions;
 - Provide technical support and respond to user inquiries;
 - Notify you about updates to our Services or send other communications that are relevant to your use of our Services; and
 - Protect you and us by enhancing our ability to detect and prevent fraud and potentially illegal activities in connection with our Services and otherwise enforce our rights.
- To improve our operations and Services. We also use the information we collect or receive to provide content you may find relevant and interesting and to maintain and upgrade our operations and our Services. For example, we may use this information to:
 - Solicit input and feedback about our Services; and
 - Identify and address technical issues on our Services;

3. How We Share the Information We Collect or Receive.

We may share information that we collect or receive with third parties when we have your consent or as described below. We may share information with the following types of third parties:

- Our service providers. We may provide information about you to service providers that perform certain functions or services on our behalf (for example, hosting our Services, storing our data, fulfilling orders, providing products and services, managing databases, performing analyses, collecting location data, providing location-based services, providing customer service, or sending communications for us). These companies are contractually obligated to protect your information in a manner that is comparable to the way we protect your information, and are only allowed to use it for the purpose it was collected (e.g. they are not permitted to sell it).

- Other parties in response to legal process or when necessary to protect us or our Services. We or our service providers may disclose your information — including the contents of your communications — to other parties when required or permitted by applicable law, such as when we have reasonable grounds to believe that:
 - Doing so is necessary to respond to lawful governmental requests or legal process (for example, a court order, search warrant, or subpoena);
 - The information is relevant to a crime that has been or is being committed;
 - An emergency exists that poses a threat to your safety or the safety of another person or persons; or
 - Doing so is necessary to protect our rights or property or to enforce our Terms of Service.

4. Third Parties That Provide Content, Advertising, or Functionality on Our Services.

Some of the content and functionality on our Services may be provided by third parties that are not affiliated with us. Such third parties include, for example:

- Audience-measurement companies, which help us measure the overall usage of our Services and compare that usage to other online services; and
- Social networking services (such as Facebook, Twitter, and Google+), which enable you to log in to certain of our Services, to comment on content available on our Services, and to share things you find on our Services with your social network.
- Mobile location analytics providers, which use location-specific data to facilitate the transmission of informational, marketing, and public service communications to you.

These and other third parties may collect or receive information about your use of our Services, including through the use of cookies, beacons, and other technologies, and this information may be collected over time and combined with information collected on different websites and online services, including, for example, to deliver ads that are more relevant to you, both on and off our websites and apps. Social networking services may be able to collect information about you, even if you do not click on or interact with their content on our Services or have an account with the social networking service.

The third party social networking services with which we partner may notify your friends and other connections, both on our Services and on the social networking services themselves, that you are a user of our Services or about your use of our Services. If you choose to access or make use of third-party social networking services, we may receive information about you that you have made available to those social networking services, including information about your friends and other contacts on those social networking services. We may use the information pursuant to this Privacy Policy, but the main purpose for our use is to enhance your personal and social experience on our Services. For example, we might show you content that is popular among your friends or connections on a social networking service or provide you with a snapshot of the responses of your friends and other connections to that content.

You also may be able to link an account from a social networking service to an account through our Services. This may allow you to use your credentials from the other site or service to sign in to certain features on our Services. If you link your account from a third-party site or service, we may collect information from those third-party accounts, and any information that we collect will be governed by this Privacy Policy.

5. “Do Not Track” Signals.

Some web browsers may transmit “do not track” signals to the websites and other online services with which the browser communicates. There is no standard that governs what, if anything, websites and online services should do when they receive these signals. We currently do not take action in response to these signals. If and when a standard for responding is established, we may revisit our policy on responding to these signals.

6. Your Choices.

You have a number of choices about how we handle information we collect or receive about you.

- You may opt out of receiving future promotional email communications from us by clicking the “Unsubscribe” link in the footer of promotional email communications and updating your preferences
- Access, Update, or Correct Information. In accordance with applicable law, you may have the right to access, update, or correct inaccuracies in your personal information in our custody and control, subject to certain exceptions prescribed by law. If you would like to access, review, or update your information, please contact us at hossports@gmail.com. Please include your first name, last name, user name and email address in the body of the email.

7. Security.

We have adopted physical, technical, and administrative safeguards to help protect against loss or theft, as well as unauthorized access, disclosure, copying, use, or modification of the information we collect and receive. The nature of the safeguards will vary depending on the sensitivity of the information that has been collected. However, please note that no data transmission or storage can be guaranteed to be 100% secure. As a result, while we strive to protect your information and privacy, we cannot and do not guarantee or warrant the security of any information you disclose or transmit to our Services and cannot be responsible for the theft, destruction, or inadvertent disclosure of your information, or any other disclosures out of our control.

Your online access to some of your information may be protected with a password that you select. You should not disclose your password to anyone. We will never ask you for your password in any unsolicited communication (such as letters, phone calls, or email messages).

8. Contact Us.

If you have any questions about this Privacy Policy or our privacy practices, please contact us at hossports@gmail.com.

9. Cookies, Beacons, and Other Technologies.

Our Services may use online technologies called “cookies” and “beacons,” as well as other local storage technologies. This section explains what these technologies are and how they may be used.

Cookies and Other Local Storage Technologies. Generally speaking, “cookies” are text files that are placed in your device’s browser that can be used to help recognize your browser across different web pages, websites, and browsing sessions. Your browser or device may offer settings related to cookies. For example, you may be able to configure your browser not to accept cookies or to notify you when a cookie is being sent. For more information about whether these settings are available, what they do, and how they work, visit your browser or device’s help material. If you decide not to accept cookies from us, you may not be able to take advantage of all of the features of the Services.

- Cookies are stored on your device or in “local storage.” We may also use other types of local storage technologies, such as Local Shared Objects (sometimes called “Flash cookies”), in connection with our Services. These technologies are similar to cookies in that they are stored on your device and can be used to maintain information about your activities and preferences.
- However, these other local storage technologies may use parts of your device other than your browser, which means you may not be able to control their use using the browser tools and settings you use to control browser cookies. For more information about managing Flash cookies, please visit the Adobe Flash Player website. Your browser’s privacy controls may enable you to manage other types of local storage.
- Our Services may use cookies or other local storage technologies in combination with other information about you to enhance and personalize your experience on our Services (or elsewhere online), including:
 - to help authenticate you when you use our Services;
 - to remember your preferences and registration information; and
 - to present and help measure and research the effectiveness of our Service, and email communications (by determining which emails you open and act upon);

Beacons. Beacons are small pieces of code placed on Web pages, videos, and in emails that can communicate information about your browser and device to a server. Beacons can be used, among other things, to count the users who visit a Web page or read an email, or to deliver a cookie to the browser of a user viewing a Web page or email.